

Nurses

Parents trust you when it comes to infant sleep safety.

U.S. DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES • NATIONAL INSTITUTES OF HEALTH
Eunice Kennedy Shriver National Institute of Child Health and Human Development

AS A NURSE, you are one of families' most trusted advisors and role models, especially on the subject of infant health and sleep safety. Sudden Infant Death Syndrome (SIDS) is still the leading cause of death among infants from one month to one year of age, but there are ways to reduce the risk. Knowing SIDS risk-reduction techniques and how to communicate effectively with parents and other caregivers can help you make a difference in just a few minutes.

The Eunice Kennedy Shriver National Institute of Child Health and Human Development offers a FREE program on SIDS risk reduction for nurses.

- Available as a printed booklet and as an online module
- 1.1 credit hours offered
- Accredited by the Maryland Nurses Association*

* Accredited by the American Nurses Credentialing Center Commission on Accreditation as a continuing education provider
